AT LEFT - The MAYFLOWER II hauled out at the Kelly yard in in Fairhaven for maintenance. The Mayflower II, brought to the yard March 3 in high wind, had a mind of its own as the soaring fantail acted as a sail and made her so unwieldy that workers lost the tide. On the next tide, they brought her in without a hitch. The bottom of the boat is in surprisingly clean condition. The hull will be caulked and painted. The deep draft of the 106 foot vessel made for a rough Atlantic crossing some 24 years ago. Many local people remember her arrival in Plymouth following her crossing from the British Isles

Selectmen's Meeting

MANSFIELD MOORINGS - POSITION PRESENTED TO SELECTMEN.

Mr. William Mansfield met with Mattapoisett Selectmen as spokesman for his son who is now involved in litigation with the Town in a zoning dispute regarding access to 7 moorings in the harbor. Town Counsel Donald Fleming made it clear at the onset that Mr. Mansfield could explain his position to the Board of Selectmen but that the Selectmen would not comment because of the pending lawsuit. The Selectmen's office was filled with observers who listened to the Mansfield comments.

Mr. Mansfield said that he does not agree that the moorings are limited to personal use by the family members. He said that his proposition is completely in line with the Zoning By-Laws and that the moorings will not be used until all the permits are obtained. He stated that he would inform Selectmen who would use the moorings regularly and that friends might come as guests but that the moorings would not be rented until the question is resolved. He said, "What harm do 7 moorings in a harbor do? We have agreed we will not run marina activities." Mansfield said that his complaining neighbors are doing exactly the same thing that the Mansfields are doing (providing access over land to moorings in the water).

Mr. Fleming asked if Mr. Mansfield were willing to submit a list of names of those using the 7 moorings and the reply was "We certainly will". Attorney John Letourneau, representing the Mansfields, stated that they would comply with all stipulations. He said that it would be improper for Mattapoisett to limit these moorings to members of the family. He stated that marinas are a permitted use in a marine residence zone and comply with local, state and federal rules.

Counsel Fleming asked, "Will Mr. Mansfield agree that he will not conduct any business on the moorings?" He said, "What we want stopped is all commercial activities. Would you agree?"

Mr. Mansfield replied that he would have to think that over.

Mr. Fleming said that the town wants commercial activities stopped and no more moorings installed until a special permit is issued. He said that "no one is trying to destroy your rights".

Mr. Mansfield replied, "All we want to do is just have it for friends."

Attorney Letourneau stated that in his opinion under the Public Trust Doctrine the harbor is held in trust for the benefit of all. He stated that to restrict those moorings out there now is a violation of the Public Trust Doctrine.

George White, one of the spectators, remarked, "I am much concerned with your word future regarding the application (with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers) to take much of the harbor." Mr. Letourneau replied, "We are not talking about that."

Mr. White asked, "Can the Corps of Engineers take a big part of the harbor for the use of the Mansfields?"

Mr. Mansfield replied that the grid is just an approximate location and that anyone in town could put a mooring in that grid.

Selectmen agreed to take the matter under advisement until the full Board could discuss and render a decision in the near future.

attend, please call us at 758-2213 and let us know. The library hours are: Monday 2-8, Wednesday 10-8, Friday 2-8, and Saturday 1-5.

A bibliography of recent outstanding children's books in science and social studies is available at the library. Here are some of the selections for junior and senior high school students.

1. "The Factories" by Leonard Fisher. The human side of industrialism is presented in anecdotes about the first textile mill in New England, factory girls and consumer goods, sweatshops and the 1876 Exposition.

2. "Gold Rush: the Yukon Stampede of 1898" by Margaret Poynter. During the depression of 1896, gold was discovered by people in the Yukon River Valley.

3. "Shortchanged by History: America's Neglected Innovators" by Vernon Pizer. Fame is fickle and may touch only a few. This informative book introduces dedicated people who have contributed to American life but were by-passed by history.

Book Review

BY REV. PAUL MYERS

Have you ever read the Sholom Aleichem stories? No? Well, here is your chance. There is a new book in the Mattapoisett Public Library entitled "The Best of Sholom Aleichem". "Sholom Aleichem" (a common greeting among Jews) is the pen name chosen by Sholom Rabinovitch who was born in 1859 in a small Ukranian town in what is now a part of Russia. The stories come out of the folk experiences of an oppressed people - terror and joy, dark and light, fear and play, etc. blending into a beautiful vision of the meaning of human existence. You may have come near the stories of Sholom Aleichem without knowing it; the musical "Fiddler on the Roof" came from his stories of

Spring Concert Series

George Fisher, pianist of New York, will open the Creative Arts Council Spring Concert Series of the Fairhaven Unitarian Memorial Church on Sunday afternoon, March 22nd. The program will be held in the Parish House, corner of Green and Centre Streets, at four o'clock.

Mr. Fisher, a native of Mattapoisett, is remembered as a highly-gifted young musician who appeared with the New Bedford Symphony as guest soloist on three occasions, and in two other concerts in the Creative Arts Council Series. He received his bachelor's degree from Brandeis University; and master's degree in composition and theory from S.U.N.Y., Stony Brook, New York. While living in Boston, he studied piano with Bela Nagy and Victor Rosenbaum; and in New York, with Robert Helps. He is currently on the faculty at Suffolk Community College on Long Island.

Mr. Fisher will be assisted in the program by Judy Lochhead (Mrs. George Fisher), clarinetist; and Martha Calhoun, cellist. Mrs. Fisher is currently studying for her doctorate degree in music theory at S.U.N.Y.; and Mrs. Calhoun received both her bachelor's and master's degrees from that institution.

Their all-Brahms program will include: Sonata in f minor, Opus 12, for piano and

Human Services

WORKSHOP SERIES

In Acushnet on Tuesday, March 31st, the Marion Center for Human Services, Inc. will begin the first in a series of workshops designed specifically to deal with the well being of Older Americans.

The staff of Project S.A.F.E. (Substance Awareness for the Elderly) and volunteers for the program will be present at designated sites in the primary service area of Coastline Elderly Services. They will conduct informal group sessions which will be limited to 15 members because much of the work will be done on a one to one basis.

Some of the topics to be covered in the S.I.N.M. (Share Information, Not Medication!) workshops include:

How Medicine Works, Generic vs. Brand Name, Senility and Insomnia, Role Playing.

These very issues of concern for seniors have been addressed by the American Association of Retired Persons at a recent White House Conference on Aging in San Francisco. The conference emphasized the need to expand research and to determine the extent and quality of health care for Older Americans including treatment for depression, prescription drug misuse, and organic brain disease.

It is expected that a registered nurse and pharmacist will assist at these workshops.

Workshops are tentatively planned in Mattapoisett to begin in April and will be held berth in the Cape Cod League for the races to their division championships. The next couple of weeks will be full of stories Rochester players may never choose to forget.

Scores for the week of March 7: Campino's Pandas in one of their best played games of the season were defeated in the last two minutes of play by the Harwich Squirts who are in second place, by a score of 2-1. Chad Vincent scored the lone goal on an assist from Manny Carrico. Maureen Kelly did a super job in goal.

In the PeeWee II Division, Vel's Kodiaks played two games this weekend, both weighing heavily on playoff positions for the teams involved. In a fast penalty-filled game against Fairhaven, the now number one team, the Kodiaks lost 2-1 with only seconds left to play in what had to be one of the most emotional games ever to take place at the Hetland Rink in New Bedford. Jeff Humphrey as always did a fine job for his boys in net. Jay Vincent scored that goal against Fairhaven with the assist of Chris White. In a game against the Y.D. PeeWee's the Kodiaks won 8-2. Jay Vincent scored two goals with both assists coming from Chris White. Tim Drew picked up a Hat Trick on three double assists coming from Chris White and Shannon Hawks, Chris White and Jay Vincent, and Matt Smith and Jay Vincent. Greg Centeio scored on a double assist from Chris White and Tom Normand and Tom Normand scored on an assist from Sean Brice. Jeff Humphrey was in goal.

In the PeeWee III Division, the American Flexible Polars tied Nauset 1-1 in another exciting game. Art Parks scored that goal assisted by Dean Frates and Chris Danse. Mike Roszkiewicz was in net. In a non-league game against Bourne, the Polars won 3-0. Chris Danse picked up those goals

Following an outstanding year for Wareham, Michael Uliano repeats as Chairman for that town in 1981. Uliano, a retired policeman, has been in charge of special events for Wareham for several years. A member of the Wareham Police Association and the Plymouth County Sheriffs Association, he is an active member of the Wareham Lodge of Elks #1548. He has set the date of May 3rd for the annual dinner for Heart at the Elks Hall in Wareham.

The fiscal year for the Heart Association doesn't end until June 30th, Mr. Perry said, and all chairmen are working diligently to exceed the totals that were raised in their towns last year. The bar hearts continue to be displayed in many restaurants and lounges and other special events are under discussion, including a Jump Rope for Heart in schools, part of a national event to be held in the spring.

"I am confident that all of our towns will do well again this year", Perry stated. "The cause is important and the volunteers are dedicated. We're sure to have success."

Keeping his ship on the right track is the job of Navyman David M. Gardner of Marion. The 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gardner of 669 Point Road is a quartermaster on board the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"Accurate navigation is a must for the safety of everyone on board and for the timely performance of our mission," said the petty officer third class.

"I'm a watch supervisor on the bridge, responsible for the navigation of the ship and supervision of other watchstanders. I'm also in charge of updating and correcting navigational charts and publications, plus the navigational division's training program."

Gardner said his ship's position can be determined in several ways ranging from celestial navigation to methods using space age technology.

"In clear weather when I can get a good bearing on the horizon and the sun or stars, a sextant will give me our position within a mile and a half," he said. "We usually don't use that as our primary method much anymore, but we still keep in practice in case something happens to our electronic navigational systems.

"One of these systems is SINS (shipboard inertial navigation system), which is accurate to a tenth of a mile. Another, called OMEDA, is even more accurate."

SINS works on the principle of the gyroscope, accurately measuring every movement of the ship including drift in a current. OMEGA operates on signals from navigational satellites.

Such accurate information about position was essential during a record-breaking deployment Gardner's ship made to the Indian Ocean recently.

The Dwight D. Eisenhower, accompanied by the nuclear-powered cruisers USS Virginia and USS South Carolina, began its 251-day, 68,000-mile deployment from Norfolk in mid-April and returned home just before Christmas.

During the deployment, the Ike, as the ship is nicknamed by the crew, broke the post-World War II U.S. Navy endurance record by staying at sea for 153 consecutive days.

"I missed trees, quiet and fresh foods the most," said Gardner. "The biggest problem was the absence of any change in our environment. The routine, the weather and the faces were essentially the same seven days a week for almost the whole nine months.

"In light of the circumstances under which we operated, it's nice to be able to say we have the record, but I would have preferred a shorter deployment or more port visits."

Ike crewmembers had only one port visit during the trip, a five-day stop in Singapore where over 1,200 guests toured the ship.

"During the visit I rested", he said. "It gave me a chance to enjoy the local foods, observe local customs and also to call home."

Although his assignment has its drawbacks, Gardner likes the Ike.

"I'd rather be on a smaller ship, but of all the carriers, I think Ike's the best," he said. "I'm proud to be here."

The USS Dwight D. Eisenhower, named for the 34th president of the United States and former general of the army, is the Navy's third nuclear-powered aircraft carrier and one of the world's largest warships.

Homeported in Norfolk, Va., the Ike is the length of more than three football fields.

It can carry up to 6,287 Navymen and weighs approximately 95,000 tons.

Virtually a floating city, the Ike provides a variety of services to its crewmembers, among them complete dental and medical facilities, a library, post office and radio and television stations.

Two nuclear reactors provide enough energy to power the huge ship for about 13 years (the equivalent of one million miles of steaming).

"That means that on a long deployment we only have to replenish aircraft fuel from tankers and it also makes our transits over and back much faster," he said.

However, its modern technology is not the main reason Gardner likes the Ike.

"It's the people", he said. "Morale is usually very high and I've made close friendships with many people from all parts of the country."

The Bay State man has been aboard the Ike for about two and a half years.

A 1977 graduate of Tabor Academy where he sang in the Glee Club and was on the varsity soccer and sailing teams, he entered the Navy in May 1978. After recruit training and quartermaster school in Orlando, Florida, he reported to the Dwight D. Eisenhower that November.

"I enlisted because I needed a break between high school and college," Gardner said. "I wanted to get out and see the world.

"Both of my parents had been in the Navy during World War II. My mother was an officer and my father was a pharmacist's mate. Also, I had an uncle who was a Navy quartermaster.

"I seriously considered joining the Coast Guard, but I decided I'd get more travel in the Navy."

Since reporting to his ship, Gardner has visited Italy, Portugal, Greece, Israel, Austria, Germany and the Bahamas as well as Singapore.

"My enlistment ends in May 1982," he said, "and I hope to attend Boston College. Eventually I want to teach in a college or prep school."

UNION HOSPITAL WINS H.S.A. APPLICATION APPROVAL

After nearly five months of meetings and deliberation, the area project review committee of the state's Health Services Agency has approved Union Hospital's application to continue as a full-service, acute care facility. The application was approved as submitted by Park Healthcare, which owns and operates Union Hospital, and it allows for a 101 bed facility consisting of 54 medical-surgical beds, 42 mental health beds and 5 intensive care beds. In addition, Union will provide complete around-the-clock emergency room and intensive care service.

The New Bedford-Fall River Sub-area Council of HSA originally met on October 14th to discuss the future of Union's medical-surgical and ICU services. At that meeting HSA met with apparently unexpected community support for the hospital. Although 300 citizens attended, HSA was unable to muster a quorum of their own board, and the meeting was moved ahead to November.

The November meeting, held at Pulaski School, drew over 600, including many elected officials. That meeting resulted in the November 10th HSA general endorsement of Union's application, but no binding decision was made.

Even this latest March 3rd approval is not the final step for Union, however. That must come on March 24th, when the Public Health Council meets in Boston. But, according to Troiano, the hospital does not foresee a problem with the Public Health Council now that Union has been able to demonstrate both a viable health care plan and strong community support.

A SPECIAL APPEAL TO MATTAPOISETT PUBLIC WATER SUPPLY USERS

It is time to read the water meters again, and we are once more facing a major increase in postal rates. Won't those of you who read your own meters please do so and mail the postcard form at once? Perhaps we can beat the postal increase for this period, as well as making it possible for a proper bill to be prepared.

Your assistance in this matter as well as your overwhelming past cooperation in our efforts to operate efficiently and economically is fully appreciated.

Yours respectfully,
